MEMORANDUM FOR: General Counsel

FROM: D C I

SUBJECT:

I'd like to know Monday evening (10 December) the source of the regulations you and I were struggling with a couple of weekends ago. One of the regulations concerned whether intelligence information could be obtained by any alternative means and <sup>the</sup> other concerned whether an agent of a foreign power was involved. Were those rules something that has been laid down in the Executive Order, in procedures approved by the Attorney General, or in the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act, or elsewhere?

Soviet oil production is peaking and the Russians will become oil importers within three years, a CIA study predicted. By 1982 Russia and its Eastern European allies could be importing 700,000 barrels a day, the report said.
